Rio Segundo Brewery

The Stout and Ale brewed at the Rio Segundo Brewery are absolutely pure, they contain less alcohol and acidity than the imported brands, and are recommended by the most eminent Physicians of the country.
Both Pale Ale and Stout are carefully pasteurized, thus preventing loss from excessive fermentation and preserving them in good condition for an indefinite period.
Stout in barrel for draught. The Stout in half bottles is to be had at all the prin-

Montevideo, 7th.
In my last telegram in regard to the port I made a mistake in speaking of Greenwood and Co. It is Mr. F. Henderson, who holds their power of attorney in this city.

An official bulletin gives details of some unimportant skirmishes with isolated bands of rebels, five or six of whom were killed or wounded and 30 horses captured. Numbers of rebels have presented themselves asking for pardon, others have been lifting cattle and have murdered a man named Donato Rios.
Villar and Lamas are said to be quite close to each other, but unable to do much for want of horses; what they have being worn out by fatigue and want of food.

The President of the Local Beer Trust has asked Congress for exoneration from excise-tax on beer destined for export.
I can't imagine what country would be likely to import Montevideo beer if it can import the Porteno article which is much superior.

The official organ, Nacion, referring to the movement of Independent Colorados in favor of peace, says that Government has neither sought nor provoked civil war and that peace can be easily obtained, without extraneous intervention, by the rebels laying down their arms and applying for pardon. The first of the entertainments arranged by jubilee committee will be the sports to be held on June 17th, in which naval and railway men will take a large part.

The Montevideo Times says:—"The blanco revolutionists have committed the worst of all crimes—failure." They must indeed be in a bad way if the Times speaks so of them.

William Lafone Quevedo, sometime Russian Consul, has died.

H. M. S. Retribution's foot ball team day. On Sunday Albion and Peniarth

The last "canard" is from a Salto paper which says they have there a duck which not only talks but is also a ventriloquist!

Bien and Nacion still exchanging amenities on question of female rebels.

Romeo Cattaneo, brother of forger, on arriving from your city was arrested on the charge of complicity with his brother. The police have not yet discovered how his brother succeeded in forging twenty dollar notes before they arrived from Europe.

The notes are admirably executed and only an expert can distinguish them from the genuine ones.

sion.

Havannah, 7th.—In Government circles the end of the revolution is considered to be at hand. The Official Gazette of today publishes a decree putting in force the reforms voted by the Cortes. In the same paper Weyler declares that he will continue to pursue and punish the rebels with the same severity as ever!

Sofia, 7th.—Captain Boitcheff, aide-de-camp of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, has been arrested, charged with murdering a lady of high society, with whom he had had illicit relations for a long time. The Prefect of Police, Slavkov, and other persons have been arrested in connection with the crime.

Madrid, 7th.—The Queen Regent, the young King, and all the Court, will leave for San Sebastian in the beginning of July.

Lyons, 7th.—The rivers in the Isere department have overflowed and done great damage. In Drome and Vaucluse departments the same consequences are feared.

Paris, 7th.—President Faure went to St. Quentin to-day, and unveiled the monument to commemorate the heroic defence of the town by the inhabitants against the Spaniards in 1567. The President was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the populace.

Dover, 7th.—The bad weather in the Channel continues; also in the North Sea.
A full rigged Norwegian ship was wrecked this morning off this port, and six of her crew were drowned.

Madrid, 7th.—At a meeting of the Liberal Party held here to-day, it was decided to continue the campaign against the Canovas Cabinet.

London, 7th.—The Times publishes an article to-day which has created a sensation and will probably give rise to indignation meetings of several Philanthropic Societies. The Times asserts that Spain has returned to the days of the Inquisition, and states that repeated acts of cruelty are committed in the prisons at home and abroad. This organ furthermore declares that cases where prisoners underwent the most horrible tortures, such as having their bodies burnt and nails pulled, have been fully proved. The article has created indignation in the Spanish Embassy, where the Times declarations are declared to be utterly false.

Madrid, 7th.—A fresh meeting will take place to-day at the Liberal Club, in which reformed plan of campaign against Canovas del Castillo will be drawn up. On the other hand ex-Premier Sagasta advises his supporters to be calm. The Liberal press expresses its ideas in very open language.

Depto. 7th.—Seven hundred and seven Argentine steers were sold to-day at prices ranging from 34 to 30 pence per stone. There are still 413 steers unsold. 5537 wethers were also sold, at 45 to 43 pence per stone. There was great briskness in the sales, and all the wethers were sold.

Paris, 7th.—The Grand Steeple Chase ramp at Auteuil, was won by Solitaire after a hard fight. Ten franc tickets on this horse paid a dividend of 25 francs.

Washington 7th.—It is asserted that President McKinley declared to many political friends that if the Queen Regent send Marshal Martinez Campos to Cuba, with dictatorial powers, during Parliamentary recess, the island will be quickly pacified.

Canea, 7th.—Many false rumours are being circulated with the object of concealing the real state of the Island. The European Admirals and Governor Ismail have determined to adopt severe measures against those who furnish false news. It is announced that the correspondents of a number of European newspapers will be expelled, whilst other will be prosecuted.

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.

(Received after Midnight.)

Constantinople, 7th.—The Ottoman Government will send at once to Athens an Envoy Extraordinary to facilitate the negotiations for peace.

London, 7th.—To-day, Whit Monday, was a bank holiday. Lobengula won the principal race of the day.

Athens, 7th.—The Minister of War, General Thamados, left to-day for Thermopylae to personally inspect the Greek positions defending the famous pass. The chief of the headquarters-staff and several officers accompany the Minister.

THE FUTURE PRESIDENCY.

Although we are still removed by close on eleven months from the usually stormy period of presidential election, a wave of excitement has already begun to trouble the calm surface of political opinions.
Yesterday the slumbering echoes were roused by a vigorous blast announcing the appearance in the electoral arena of the first candidate. This first bugle-note in the presidential campaign comes from the perfumed ambience of Tucuman, from the historic city where the Declaration of Independence was signed eighty-one years ago, from the glorious cane-producing valleys that nestle at the foot of the Aconquija range and smile in all the glory of semi-tropical vegetation under the petrifried frown of the huge mountain-peaks. Much do we owe to that province of plantations, politics and poetry—the alliteration makes us add presidents—which is the truth—and we look upon it as an excellent augury that the proclamation of General Roca's candidature to the future presidency has been launched in Tucuman. The note will assuredly be re-echoed in the other provinces and taken up by the whole country.

General Roca is the first candidate in the electoral arena. He is practically the only one. Where are his adversaries?
There is no name in the long list of political magnates in the Plate to be pitted against him, and the Fates have removed those men who might have proved formidable. Alem sleeps in the tomb, and with him are buried that resentment and animosity which embittered the political struggle that followed the revolution of 1890.
Don Bernardo Irigoyen is too good for a radical world, and although we look upon him as Alem's successor, he is now too aged to enter the lists. Who else could come forward? Those who watch the involutions and evolutions of Argentine politics know that the only name that could with any probability of success have been pitted against the General's, was that of Pellegrini. Indeed, so evident was this that a very determined effort was made at one time—and that not long ago—to break the ties of friendship that unite Roca and Pellegrini, and provoke a separation which would have proved dangerous, if not a fatal blow to the National Party. The wisdom of the two leaders was superior to the influence brought to bear upon them. They remained united, and there can be no doubt that the convention of the National Party, which meets next month, will ratify the proclamation in Tucuman, for the General's friends and partisans in the sugary province have stolen a march on the National Party in thus proclaiming him candidate for the presidency. The certainty of his success is accepted by all, and the contending political parties appear agreed that the General must win. The struggle, therefore, will not be for the presidency but for the vice-presidency, and the distribution of political influence in the higher posts of the administration. General Mitre and his followers—an important factor in the political balance—will raise no opposition to General Roca. What their opinions are respecting the vice-presidency is a different matter. Nothing can be known in this regard until later on, when positions come to be defined.

It is needless to say that the candidature of General Roca will be welcomed by the foreign community in the Plate, and perhaps even more enthusiastically by the financial magnates who have dealings with Argentina. The General's name is identified with the progress and prosperity of the country. It was he who, overpowering the dissolving elements of 1880, strangled the fiend Anarchy and established "peace and administration." It was he who wrenched the Pampa from the grasp of the savage and gave it to enterprise, capital and labor, thus paving the way for an era of dazzling prosperity that raised our paper currency to a par with gold. It was he who called into existence that stream of immigration which fertilized our provinces and changed abandoned tracts of country into smiling plantations. True, he committed blunders. History bears no record of a faultless ruler. But the country knows and feels that no president ever did more good and less harm to the Republic than General Roca; that no statesman in our midst has a better experience of the country's requirements, nor a more correct appreciation of its capabilities than General Roca, and finally that the Tucumans, in proclaiming him candidate to the presidency, have shown that they are not altogether destitute of common sense or deprived of foresight, as the bungling of sugar interests and other blunders might have led us to suppose.

THE TUCUMAN PROCLAMATION.
GENERAL ROCA'S ANSWER.
The great event in political circles is the proclamation of General Roca by his friends in Tucuman as candidate for the Presidency. On Saturday last, a large gathering of representative men assembled in the historic town, and agreed to support General Roca as candidate for the next presidency. Telegrams were drawn up and forwarded to General Roca, who replied in the following terms:— Buenos Ayres, June 6, 1897.
To Adam Quiroga, Editor of Nacional, Tucuman.
Your initiative and the applause with which it was received by last night's political assembly—in which I see so many distinguished and influential names, compel my gratitude. Nothing could be more welcome to me than these pleasing echoes of sympathy and trust from my native province, for which I cherish love and reverence in the depths of my soul.
If the will of the Nation raise me to the high post to which you have proclaimed me, I promise you that I will do all in my power not to disappoint your hopes and desires for an ample government, free open to all noble initiatives, respectful of all rights, and attentive to every current of opinion—for even the most violent and most passionate often carry, like infuriated winds, prolific germs, useful lessons and ideas for the ruler—a government devoted to economic interests, which are the bases of a people's welfare and prosperity—in a word a government respected within and without the country.

As I cannot reply separately to those who have sent me telegrams, I hope this message, together with the expression of my deep gratitude for the high honour conferred on me—the highest honour to which an Argentine may aspire—will be accepted by all.

You may publish this in your newspaper.

Yours cordially.

Julio A. Roca.

THE QUEEN'S REIGN.

(By M. G. MULLHALL.)

XIII.—FOOD SUPPLY.

The abolition of nearly all taxes on food has been an inestimable blessing to the people of Great Britain, although it has been injurious to Ireland, whose principal industry has been always agricultural. There is no country of Europe where the people is so well fed as in Great Britain, the food expenditure amounting to £357,000,000 yearly, or £110.
4s. per inhabitant, against £8, 10s. in France, £7, 15s. in Germany, and £5, 5s. in Ireland. If we compare the consumption of the principal articles of food in the United Kingdom in 1895 with previous periods we find:—

	Per Inhabitant	1857-60	1861-70	1895
Wheat, lbs.	290	335	300	300
Meat, lbs.	75	80	110	110
Sugar, lbs.	16	41	88	88
Tea, oz.	20	52	30	30
Beer, gallons	24	28	30	30

In the above table no distinction is made regarding Ireland, where the consumption is relatively small, and hence the ratios for Great Britain in all five items would be considerably higher than shown above.

At the Queen's accession Great Britain drew great quantities of wheat from Ireland, but the repeal of the Corn Laws has so completely changed the condition of the sister-island, that she now grows hardly enough wheat to feed the city of Dublin. In 1895 the wheat-supply of the United Kingdom was made up thus:—

	Bushels	Days' Supply
Home-grown	51,000,000	71
United States	87,000,000	121
Russian	46,000,000	65
Argentine	23,000,000	33
Indian	17,500,000	25
Canadian	9,500,000	13
Various	26,500,000	37
Total	260,500,000	365

The quantity grown in the United Kingdom would feed our people for no more than 71 days: we eat American flour during four months, Russian two months, and depend on various colonies and other countries during 34 months of the year.
As our population is increasing very rapidly, we shall before long subsist during eleven months in the year on imported wheat.

The meat supply stands on quite another footing, for in this respect Ireland is of immense benefit to Great Britain. The consumption of meat in this country is much greater per inhabitant than among other European nations, viz:

Lbs. per Inhabitant Yearly
G. Britain.. 121	Germany... 75	Austria.... 60
Ireland..... 40	France 70	Belgium... 56

It has been always recognised that the industrial efficacy of nations requires a liberal supply of animal food, especially meat. Whether the consumption of meat in Great Britain be excessive is a matter open to question, but it will hardly be denied that a proper supply for people in northern latitudes would at least be the ratio of consumption in Germany, say 75 lbs. yearly or 1½ lbs. weekly. One of the reasons why Ireland is so backward among nations, notwithstanding her proximity to so prosperous a country as Great Britain, is the insufficiency of animal food. The United Kingdom exported meat at the time of the Queen's accession, but at the present we import 850,000 tons yearly from abroad, exclusive of our supply from Ireland. The meat supply of the island of Great Britain in 1896 was as follows:—

	Tons	Days' Supply
Native	760,000	148
Irish	28,000	55
United States	470,000	91
Continental, &c.	380,000	73
Total	1,638,000	365

There is much less reason for apprehension as regards meat supply than with respect to wheat, in case of a general war. Exclusive of imports from foreign countries, Great Britain can count on 1,040,000 tons of British and Irish meat, equal to a supply of 65 lbs. per inhabitant.
Meantime it is to be observed that imports of foreign meat are increasing so rapidly that it is manifest the consumption per inhabitant is rising every year, being at present for the whole United Kingdom

110 lbs., against 108 lbs. in 1892-94. The imports of 1894 and 1896 compare as follows:—

	From	Tons	1894	1896
United States	450,000	470,000	450,000	470,000
Australia	72,000	72,000	72,000	72,000
Canada	47,000	47,000	47,000	47,000
Argentina	23,000	23,000	23,000	23,000
Denmark	85,000	85,000	85,000	85,000
Other countries	77,000	77,000	77,000	77,000
Total	668,000	668,000	668,000	668,000

During the past ten or twenty years, rumours have been set afloat at intervals to the effect that the production of meat in the United States would be insufficient to keep up exports on so large a scale as hitherto, and that before long we should have to look mainly to the British Colonies for this commodity. Beyond question the United States population increases by nearly 1½ million souls yearly, thus increasing the consumption of meat; but so vast are the cattle-farms of that country that the available surplus for exportation remains undiminished. In fact, our imports of American meat have risen more than 10 per cent. in the last two years.
The production of meat in the United Kingdom has increased by one-fourth since 1840, viz:—

	Tons	1840	1896
Beef	880,000	590,000	880,000
Mutton	290,000	320,000	290,000
Pork	210,000	190,000	210,000
Total	880,000	1,100,000	880,000

Although Ireland has only 11 per cent. of the population of the United Kingdom, she stands for one-third of the meat production, viz:—

	Tons	G. Britain	Ireland	U. Kingdom
Beef	850,000	240,000	590,000	850,000
Mutton	280,000	40,000	320,000	280,000
Pork	190,000	60,000	190,000	190,000
Total	750,000	340,000	1,100,000	750,000

Not only are we in a great measure dependent on foreign countries for grain and meat, but also for dairy products, the consumption of which is as follows:—

	Native	Imported	Total	Per Inhab.
Butter, tons	90,000	195,000	285,000	16 lbs.
Cheese	110,000	110,000	220,000	12 "

Eggs, millions	1,800	1,500	3,300	35 eggs

grets and apologies for having inserted the touting advertisements of these gentlemen. It is not likely that recent examples or any new crusade against outsiders will succeed in moralising a public which, if bucket-shops were closed, would only run into "missing words", horse-racing and pitch and toss. Many so-called "outside brokers" are socially gentlemen who have abandoned other professions, the army in particular, and are about as honest as others in business.

Under reserve we are informed that King George of Greece has been utilising the misfortunes of his country and his intimate knowledge of them in stock exchange speculations. His Majesty is reported to have been selling "Greeks" largely in Paris and Berlin, and has netted a profit of about one million three hundred thousand pounds sterling. I think and hope Drachmas would hardly be worth royal notice, but the moral lesson is the same in either case to the world, in which there is still a lingering faith in that divinity which doth hedge a king even when a "bear."

The love of gain is no new passion, but of late years it has certainly assumed a new phase. "Put money in thy pocket" is Shaksperian wisdom only an ass would gainsay; but modern gluttony in money making is the result of a peculiar stage of civilisation in which science has multiplied the means of making it and created a feverish competition common to all classes and all advanced and advancing nations. It commenced in commercial democracies and has lately invaded countries in which previously a well defined distinction of caste and higher tastes had held the passion in check. The modern gambling and overreaching spirit has not only ascended into the precincts of courts and thrones, it affects the policy of nations and governments changing the more intrigues and tricks of the old statescraft into hellish desires worthy of a Shylock or a common burglar. I see in a literary review in one of to-day's newspapers—the Westminster Gazette—that a promising English novelist, Mr. George Gissing, has made "the melancholy middle class" a subject of morbid and pessimistic analysis, in his latest work "The Whirlpool." Mr. Gissing deals with English families of the upper middle class; he is supposed to know better and to have studied their peculiarity more deeply than any other writer. People with an income of one thousand a year make their lives miserable to get it to look like twelve hundred a year. Marriage, he says, to these people is no happiness. The men as a rule are better than the women, but they are too stupid to understand the ways of women, who on their side have no intellectual sympathy with the studies and ambitions of their husbands. Unconsciously wives and daughters, more out of sheer frivolity than innate wickedness, ruin the hard working and distracted breadwinners by needless expenditure. The women disillusioned by matrimony do not even love their own children. This is a harsh picture, if only in part true it is an alarming one, suggestive of much thought as to the process of evolution of society from the patriarchal and more natural stage to the less animalistic but more cultured and without doubt higher condition which has still to develop.

London is filling rapidly. A little warmish weather entices one to stroll down Bond street to look at the hats women's of course. The male hat of the season is the shape of a flower pot which is better than a chimney pot and is possibly the last effort in the way of tall hats which have lasted just a century. Their centenary I think was celebrated last week by some of the papers and there was a universal howl for the abolition of this last relic of the French revolution. But, as Mr. Curzon asks in regard to Lord Salisbury's foreign policy, "Who is going to suggest an alternative?" A bowler identifies you with the costermonger class. A light felt makes you look like a parson in multi or an organist on the loose. We had better leave it to natural evolution, and take warning of the War Office, at this moment in an agony of the inventive spirit trying to make a new head-dress for Tommy Atkins. Some of its attempts have been published. They are immediately inspired by the German helmet, and remotely by the latest book upon Mycenaean and Schlemm's lowest stratum under Ilium.

In reference to the sad sequel to the Paris disaster, the death of the Duc d'Aumale, Figaro says that the fortune left by the Duke is much smaller than was generally supposed, his income having been greatly reduced by the depreciation of his property, which is mainly forest land. In fact there has been such a great falling-off that it is considered doubtful whether the Institute of France, to which the Duke left his unrivalled library and art collection with the Chantilly estate, will be able to maintain it in the form prescribed by the will.

We much regret to announce the death of the Honble. Mrs. W. J. G. Napier, wife of the Master of Napier and youngest daughter of the late Mr. Edward Lumb of this city. We offer Don Carlos Lumb and all his family our very sincere condolence on the sad event.

MEMS IN THE MEDITERRANEAN.

V.

Genoa, April 9th, 1897.

The run from Barcelona to Genoa is perhaps the most delightful part of the voyage from Buenos Aires, always providing that the weather is favorable when crossing the Gulf of Lyons, which in rough weather is just as bad as the Bay of Biscay.

On the present occasion the weather was so fine that there was no Gulf of Lyons at all; and nothing could surpass the beauty of the coast studded with little towns and villages.

We passed Nice early in the morning and saw the beautiful hotel of Cimiez, which is a suburb of Nice, and where Her Majesty has passed the winter months. Strange to say, the very morning we passed it the Queen left for London. We could distinctly see the hotel which she occupied; it has a magnificent frontage, and is five storeys high. Capt. Mascassini told me that Her Majesty paid £1,000 a day rent for the hotel with 150 rooms; it is surrounded with groves of orange and olives and situated on a high hill, some 200 feet over the sea, commanding the most delightful views of the Mediterranean and the Maritime Alps. So many of your subscribers have passed the European winter at Nice that they positively know more about the place than I do myself. Mascassini tells me that there are several Argentine families there at present, as also at Monte Carlo, where I hear the playing this season has been higher than ever.

It was morn when we entered the beautiful harbour of Genoa; nothing could be more enchanting than the sight of all the hill tops that overlooked the city studded with the most delightful residences. Just as we entered we met the new Spanish ironclad, Cristobal Colombo, sister ship of the Argentine ironclad Garibaldi, and both built at Ansaldo's renowned navy yard. The Colombo was going out to try her engines and her speed, which appeared most satisfactory. She is equal in everything to the Garibaldi, save in price, and it cost the Spanish Government 800,000 lire less than what the Garibaldi cost the Argentines; the economies were made, I believe, by the Spaniards in silver dinner and tea services, etc., which the Argentines could not dispense with. The harbour of Genoa is deep and protected by two piers, and the port is quite secure in all weather; an outer harbour has been formed through the munificence of the late Duke di Galliera, who gave from his private fortune £800,000 sterling towards the work, when finished, will cost over two and a half millions sterling. Mr. Luiggi, who is at present in Buenos Aires, did the greater part of these works, and established for himself the very highest reputation as a hydraulic engineer. Compared with the Madero dock the harbour of Genoa is a very small affair, but it has now two splendid dry docks, which I visited with Mr. Polinini, and the description of which I hold for another letter.

Genoa is one of the most beautiful cities in Europe, and has been deservedly called "La Superba." The old streets are narrow, but are lined with magnificent palaces. The city is a very up and down place; many parts are quite inaccessible by carriages, and the small narrow "vicos" are even inconvenient for foot passengers. In the older parts of the town, the houses have an appearance of antique solidity, whilst those in the modern streets are distinguished for their magnitude and fine architecture.

The Genoese are hard-working, sober, frugal, practical people. They claim that their city is older than anything in the Mediterranean, having been founded by Yanus, the grandson of Noah. This, however, must be a mistake, as, according to Mr. Christophersen's book, Yanus and all his family settled in Ireland, and in the line of antiquities I could see nothing in Genoa to beat the old round towers in Ireland. They have in the Cathedral the "Sacro Catino," which was long supposed to be a single piece of Emerald, and the gift from the Queen of Sheba to Solomon, or the dish which held the Paschal Lamb at the Passover; or the vessel which Joseph of Arimathea received the blood from our Redeemer's side. This precious vessel forms part of the spoils of the Genoese at Ciesarea in 1101. It is brought three times a year out of the treasury and exposed to the veneration of the faithful. No stranger is allowed to touch it. The dish is hexagonal, with some slight ornaments. The colour is beautiful. It was taken by Napoleon when he captured Genoa, and sent under a guard of soldiers on to Paris as a dish of priceless worth, but there was discovered to be nothing but a piece of Abyssinian glass, and when reclaimed by the Genoese it was so carelessly packed that it broke by the way. The fragments, however, have been united by a setting of gold filigree. I paid five francs to have a look at it. There are also other relics across from Ephesus, and a silver shrine for the procession on Ash Wednesday. I also visited the Church of San Giovanni Di Pre, near the dock yard, where all the Crusaders passing through Genoa boarded. It was here that Urban VI. caused 5 Cardinals, his opponents, taken at Lucera in 1386, to be executed. The 6th Cardinal, Adam, of Hereford, was spared at the intercession of the King of England. In making some excavations their skeletons were all discovered. I cannot attempt to give you a description of all the palaces and picture galleries I visited. In fact, in some of the streets every house is a palace; a large hall supported partly on columns, leading to a patio or court, surrounded by arcades; beyond is the great stair-case, rising on either hand, and further still is frequently a small garden shaded by orange trees. The long perspective of halls, courts, columns, arches and flights of steps produces a magnificent effect, enhanced by the splendour of the marble used in their construction. Many of these palaces contain pictures by Rubens and Van Dyke, both of whom resided here several years.

All have frescoes with illumined ceilings. I asked Mr. Maccio what the average market price might be of any of these palaces in the Via Balbi, and he told me that they are never sold, and are above all price. I mentioned to him 200,000 gold dollars, and he laughed at me, as he said the internal adornments of each house were worth more than double that sum. I give you these few details in order that those of your readers who judge of the world's grandeur and the world's luxury by the Boulevard de Mayo and the Avenida Alvear, may awaken to facts too often overlooked in your city.

Yours,
Dr. Syntax.

SCOTCH CHURCH BAZAAR.

For the moment confusion reigns in the halls of the Scotch Church but already the stalls are taking shape, and we are able to give our readers some idea of the Bazaar which may be interesting.

On entering the hall the first stall is the FANCY STALL.

Mrs. Cumming and Miss Cumming, Assistants—Miss A. Yortson, Miss McLean, Miss Lilly Forrester, Miss Wallace, Miss Ellen Clark, Miss Darbyshire.

Passing on the left we come to the FANCY STALL.

Colours: Green and White. Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Dorman, Mrs. Owen and Mrs. Shawler.

Assistants: Miss Nicholson, Miss Waters, Miss K. Holtum, Miss A. McKeechie, Miss Fowler, Mr. F. McKeechie, Mr. E. N. Davies, Mr. F. W. Perry, Miss Dora Hartz, Miss F. Holtum, Miss McKeechie, Miss McNeill, Mr. William Fowler, Mr. J. N. Davies, Mr. Colquhoun.

Where there will be a beautiful display of Fancy Work and Ornaments. Close to this is the FANCY STALL.

Mrs. Tulloch, Mrs. Fleming, the Misses Riddle, and Miss L. Cowes.

Assistants: Miss Anderson, Miss Forrester, Miss Potter, Mr. M. Mackintosh, Miss M. Fleming, Mr. Arch. Mackintosh. We hear that at this stall there will be some beautiful articles of Indian Embroidery.

In the further left hand corner is the FANCY STALL.

Colours: Pink and Green. Mrs. Brigham, Mrs. Kay, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Hogg, Mrs. Anderson, and Miss E. Manson.

Assistants: Miss Kay, Miss Craig, Miss Dellano, Mr. J. Craig, Miss A. Kay, Miss Wood, Mr. M. M. Kay.

These ladies have an excellent display of useful articles, very especially note shawls, scarfs, perfumery, etc.

Turning back, on the right hand side of the Hall, is the Fish Pond, which has been entirely "stocked" with new toys and ornaments from England. It is under the charge of Mrs. J. H. Higgins, assisted by Mrs. Boote.

The last Stall in the Hall is—

the FANCY STALL.

Colours: Red, White and Blue. Mrs. Lawrie and Mrs. MacKinnay.

Assistants—Mrs. McLuskie, Miss Lucy MacKinnay, Miss Kate Lawrie, Miss Aggie Lawrie, Mr. Goddard, Mr. Dobson, Miss Annie Lawrie, Miss Rosa Lawrie, Mr. Allen, Mr. Miller, Mr. Syer.

In it we noticed a large display of children's games and Gymnasium articles.

Opening out of the hall by one door is the Refreshment Room, which is under the charge of Mrs. Ferguson.

Assistants—Mrs. R. L. Goodfellow, Miss Fraser, Miss M. Fraser, Miss Roberts, Miss C. Roberts, Miss Murray, Miss E. Murray, Miss H. Murray, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. MacKinnon, Mr. C. Roberts, Mr. J. Roberts, Mr. Laidlaw, Mr. Leighton.

By another door we get into the patio, which is being covered over and decorated. Out of this we enter the smaller hall, which will also be fitted as a Refreshment Room.

On the platform Prof. Pini's band will discourse sweet music and, in the smaller hall, several of our musical amateurs have promised to sing songs during the two evenings on which the Bazaar will be open.

On Thursday afternoon, a magic lantern entertainment will be given in the smaller hall.

We ought to have mentioned that the Committee have distributed among the stalls a large quantity of silver plate guaranteed to be Elkington's best quality. This will be sold at low rates.

We are informed that prices will be low, as the Committee intend to sell everything. Raffle will be kept within narrow limits, and we feel sure that the public will not only get their money's worth of goods and enjoyment, but by patronizing the Bazaar will enable the Scotch Church to carry out most of the extensions which have been planned. As has been intimated, the Bazaar will be opened to-morrow night at 352 Calle Peru, by H.B.M. Minister, the Hon. W. A. C. Barrington at 8.30 p.m.

THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS.

The farewell performance of Novelli at the Politeama on Sunday night was a most imposing one, having been arranged to celebrate the "Estatuto Italiano," the masterpiece chosen for the occasion, being the celebrated drama of the well known Italian author Giacometti, "La Morte Civile." We have seen Novelli before playing this piece, but this time he surpassed himself, and the applause of 3000 spectators was accordingly simply terrific; and when the curtain fell after this master monologue he was recalled five times to receive public ovations. Signora Olga Giannini in the principal role as Kavalier kept the audience in tears, and Signora Alfonso Cassini again enjoyed general approval, as before, by his perfect acting. The commander and officers of the Italian man-of-war went after the third act to congratulate the gifted actors.

At the Comedia to-night "Amor y Claustro," a new work by an Argentine author, will be produced. In the cast will be included the names of Sr. Alba and Galé and Sres. Mesa, Tapias and Caba.

To-night will also witness the re-appearance of Lunardi's "Cinematograph" with a series of entirely new views including "A bivaque dance," "A gondola in Venice," "A bathing scene," "A Walk in the Zoo," "The water Toboggan" and others.

To-morrow Sr. Torrijos, a comedian of the very first class, will make his appearance at this theatre.

Cinderella was produced last night at the San Martin with the greatest success. All the decorations are new and the effect of the ball-room scene was first rate.

To-morrow night, those wonderful miniature dioramas Vargas and Bisaccia will take their benefit. These young people have created a wonderful sensation since their very first appearance, so much so, as to become almost a craze, and the house to-morrow should be crammed full of their legion of admirers.

LA PLATA.

(From our own Correspondent)

On Wednesday the Executive will propose to the Senate, as member of the Supreme Court, Dr. Dalmiro Alsina, and other changes incidental to his promotion.

CONGRESS.

DEPUTIES.

Amongst the business yesterday laid on the table was a message from the Government accompanying a Bill dealing with the destruction of locusts, and also a Bill for the creation of a Veterinary Section in the Health Department. The debate was opened on the San Luis intervention in which Dr. O'Farrell spoke, but the House rose before a vote had been taken.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The proclamation, in the capital of the sugary Garden of the Republic, of General Roca as next candidate for the Chief Magistracy of the Republic, was the only stirring news of the day yesterday. It was, of course, expected, but is none the less important. There is no other horse likely to be entered for the Presidential Stakes, and the political book-makers are laying 1000 to one on him. The betting will bewild on second place; and in some political quarters it is said that the second will be a very dark horse, not even mentioned yet, much less quoted at any price. Who can it be?

On Wednesday the 30th inst. the "Grand Jubilee Ball" will be given at Prince George's Hall, for the benefit of the funds of the Victoria Convalescent Home. As everyone knows, the Home was founded to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of Her Most Gracious Majesty's accession to the throne, so that, although the Convalescent Home counts on a ball yearly, to provide funds for its useful work, the present occasion is one that the Committee of the Home with justice considers should be celebrated in the most fitting manner. Our generous Argentine friends who are ever ready to answer a charitable appeal, and, above all, to partake with us in our festivities, have come forward in the most enthusiastic manner, and the result in the present case should be the very best Ball that has been seen in Buenos Aires, as well as a handsome addition to the funds of the Home. The following gentlemen form the special Committee in charge of the ball; such names can only mean supreme success:—Hon. W. A. C. Barrington, H. B. M. Minister in the Argentine Republic; Hon. W. Buchanan, Minister of U.S.N.A. in the Argentine Republic. Ernesto Pellegrini, F. Coulon; Manuel Quintana (hijo); W. B. Bassett-Smith; Torcuato de Alvear; J. O. Hall; R. Acebal; G. Mackern; M. Avellaneda; H. Pennell; D. B. Webster, J. Trillia; R. Moore and Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, F. H. Chevallier-Boutell. The tickets are fixed at twenty dollars each and can be applied for at the Secretary's Office 645 Avenida Mayo up to the 20th inst. Later on full details will be published of the arrangements that will be made by the Committee for this celebration, which it is understood will be quite unique and carried out on a scale that has not yet been attempted since the doors of Prince George's Hall were opened. Sometimes people are inclined to say to one another: "What good does the Victoria Convalescent Home do to the British community or to anyone—for the matter of that?" It must be remembered that the Home provides a resting place for hundreds and even thousands, who after sickness are in want of the few days necessary to pick up lost strength, and set out again on the labour of life, which is the lot of every mortal. A large number of the poorer class of patients, who have nowhere to go to convalesce after leaving the British Hospital, are sent down to the Convalescent Home, and so useful is the Institution, that a scheme is on foot to take in surgical cases and relieve the Hospital to a very great degree. The work of the Home is extended mainly to the poorer classes, or to those who absolutely cannot afford to pay for the days' rest required; and as a sample of the work done during the past year, the free patients received from the British Hospital actually cost the Home over $4,000 and nearer $5,000 to maintain during the time they were convalescing. It is as well these facts should be known, as the home deserves better support from all classes, and, as its usefulness is extending, it is to be hoped the public will come forward liberally to support an institution, which was founded to celebrate our Most Gracious Queen's Jubilee, and which by her special permission bears her name.

H. M. S. Pinafore is now in the able hands of Mr. Morgan the stage manager and the rehearsals are proceeding very smoothly. As already announced, the performances will take place in the Politeama, on the nights of the 21st and 23rd inst. The Committee have very wisely adopted the idea of reasonable prices for admission, so that all can assist at the representations.

To properly celebrate the Jubilee Day June 22nd, a grand promenade instrumental and vocal concert will be given in the Pavilion. The choral music will consist purely of British Patriotic songs will be sung by a chorus of 200 voices consisting of members of the Buenos Aires Dramatic Club, Buenos Aires Choral Union, Lomas Choral Society and many ladies and gentlemen who are not members of any of those societies. The choruses will be conducted by Mr. J. Hampden Wall and the orchestra will be directed by Professor Pini. Between the various pieces, the audience, which should be an enormous one on this memorable occasion, will be addressed by various prominent members of the British community.

Our distinguished and gallant friend General Reynolds has been named Director of the Military School, vice Colonel O'Donnell resigned. Right man in right place.

According to the report to the War Minister of Colonel Laure, Chief of the Naval Staff, all the reports about the Garibaldi, leaking dangerously are pure inventions. The water between her double bottoms is old and decomposed. He got up steam and moved her to a new anchorage, without finding any leakage whatever. This is really extraordinary in face of recent reports. Where does the truth lie?

The story told by Espina, the "tropero," who killed the unfortunate police officer Correa, and who was yesterday arrested near the Uribelarrea station, puts an entirely different face on the unhappy affair. The early morning was one of almost impenetrable mist. Espina, his horse too tired to follow closely the "tropero," was lagging some distance behind his companions. Suddenly out of the mist he saw a man on horseback ride rapidly towards him and in a threatening voice command him to surrender. Thinking that it was one of the very bandits, for whom indeed he was mistaken by Correa, he jumped off his horse and, when the police officer in savage tones reiterated his command to give himself up presented a revolver at his head, drew his knife and in self defence stabbed the supposed thief; what then happened we already know. This account is borne out by the man's character as an inoffensive "gaucha" incapable of murder and usually reckoned by his companions as an "infeliz." It is a most miserable, melancholy story from beginning to end. One valuable life has been lost and another will probably be ruined for years on account of the wretched delays which invariably occur in trying such cases.

The weather was as dark and depressing yesterday as it well could be, short of a downpour of rain, and this may be at hand, as the Queen of Night begins to wax to-day, and when ladies get waxy, we all know what happens. Affairs in disconnected Europe seem to be taking a snooze: even Turkey is reluctant to cause any further unpleasantness till the Grand Old Lady has had her Diamond Jubilee, and the negotiations for peace with Greece are still going on. Old Spain is a fury, John Bull's second Bible, the Times, has denounced her to the world as carrying on a system of torture and cruelty in her prisons, at home and abroad, especially with political and Anarchist prisoners, that is as bad as the Inquisition. The Spanish Embassy in London denies indignantly the hard impeachment; but we should say that the "Thunderer" knows pretty well what it is writing about, and its article will probably raise the D-1 again in the United States against Spain.

There were some rumours yesterday of another couple of scuffles in the War of the Roses on the wrong side of Jordan, and capturing 2000 horses on their way to General Villar's forces.

The week opened with a big Lottery, "grande" $200,000. We hope a Spanish subscriber, won it and, if so, expect him to do the handsome and pay down sixty years in advance, in honour of the Queen's Jubilee. Here are the large prizes:—19431, $200,000; 9945, 20,000; 5639, 10,000; 5546, 3115, 3242, 5,000; 21776, 17254, 21940, 11006, 2,000; 17088, 20363, 10038, 2328, 2533, 8863, 5796, 11171, 20337, 4470, 9398, 6461, 1,000; 14807, 11232, 1576, 8683, 1757, 5714, 9803, 12146, 13574, 5659, 3770, 6271, 6616, 8568, 19943, 10050, 3165, 6478, 5200, 1697, 4201, 18281, 10626, 2789, 500; 21556, 17530, 18505, 10784, 18378, 8461, 9974, 17054, 21082, 22243, 13893, 17557, 9515, 4572, 17441, 12729, 10618, 24442, 20887, 3063, 8304, 16312, 12883, 15683, 21708, 5837, 1324, 19293, 11303, 21740, 15933, 18573, 6733, 3103, 4777, 6543, 6636, 200.

The latest fashionable "Habana" is "La Rubia," by the talented Argentine composer Hargreaves, who has dedicated it to the charming Miss Carmen Lawson, whose portrait is on the cover.

There was a great police demonstration yesterday at the interment in the Recoleta of the remains of Commissary Correa, who was killed on Friday night while in the discharge of his duty. Dr. Beazley, Chief of Police, sent a splendid wreath, and there were many others. The Squadron of Security, two companies of Bomberos, and the Police band formed the procession. Mr. Varela Ortiz, Police Secretary, delivered a most feeling oration at the grave.

The Locusts! The cry is still, they come. Yesterday, an enormous swarm settled on Mr. Mariano Unzué's estancia in Entre Rios and did considerable damage. On, Bruner on! Charge, Commissions charge! The foe is in our midst. To arms! To arms!

The gay and rakesome population of this city seem to have gone theatre mad on Sunday night. Our shades-of-evening-colleague the Diario gives the following as the numbers at each theatre Opera 3000 persons; Politeama 3000; Odeon 1,800; San Martin 3,000; Casino 1,400; Skating Rink 1,300; Rivadavia 1000; Comedia 1,200; Doria 1,500; Apolo 900; Olimpo 800; Mayo 800; Victoria 1,200; Eden 700; Circo Anselmo 1,200.

The figures of the enrolment of the National Guard in February last are at last published, and give a total of 450,000 men. This is exclusive of the returns from Salta, Santiago del Estero, San Juan and five National Territories, not yet sent in. Argentina has certainly a very respectable force of citizen soldiers in case of necessity.

Our literary friends, the Book Exchange of 333, Calle Florida, report no depression in their line of business. They say the demand for current literature is as brisk as ever, and see no reason to curtail their orders. They have just received all the latest light reading by popular authors Lord Brasse's '97 annual, and the Photographic Year Book for 1897.

The loyal Britishers who live, move, and have their being in that rapidly-rising town—Buenos Aires—city we mean—Bahia Blanca intend to have a right royal Jubilee racket. They held a meeting at the Hotel de Londres there on Thursday last, and resolved to have an Open Air Demonstration on the 22nd. The following gentlemen were elected as a Committee representative of the camp districts, the port and town of Bahia Blanca, H.B. M's Vice-Consul, Mr. Chas C. Cumming being unanimously named Honorary President. Messrs. E. Chance, Thos S. Wryley Birch and H. Wright representing the camp. Messrs. H. Gwyther, Webster and Philp for the Port. Messrs R. J. Grieve, William Barker and W. B. Harding Green for the town. A subscription list was handed round to those present, when the sum of $780 was at once promised. The Committee beg of all intending subscribers to let the Treasurer, Mr. William Barker, Casilla Correo No 80, Bahia Blanca, have a reply at the earliest possible date, so that they may know with what funds they may count, and make arrangements in accordance. It was arranged that Athletic sports should form the main object, bringing the subscribers and their friends together, and a Committee for this purpose was named, consisting of Messrs. Chance, Gwyther, Webster, Murray, Bridge, Ibbetson, Blanchfield and Tillyer, to arrange the best programme possible for the sports to be held on the Bahia Blanca and North Western Athletic Club's ground.

Our two valued and esteemed illustrated fellow-travellers in the Editorial Bus, Illustration Sud-Americana and Revue Illustrée, turned up yesterday in their usual varied and attractive garb. The former has good sketches of the doings in the Plaza on May 25th, views of our countryman Mr. Trajard's fine new establishment at Famatina in Rioja, portraits of the Ferrari troupe, etc. The Revue is a fine portrait of the late Duc d'Aumale every inch a Prince, with Royalty stamped on every feature of his splendid face. There are also well executed sketches of this world-renowned castle of Chantilly, which, with its priceless treasures of art of all kinds, he has bequeathed to the French nation.

In the name of the Congress of Europe—about the worst masie we have ever had the misfortune to listen to—what's this? A German Jameson raid on the Argentine Republic threatened!! This beats cockfighting. The row in the Tower of Babel a good many years ago was a Quakers' meeting compared with what would happen if the scheme denounced by the illustrious Babel were attempted by the Kaiser Second to None. Read this—The Reichstag has been discussing the Emigration Bill of the Government. Speaking on the clauses which enable the Imperial Government to attach to the licences granted for the transport of emigrants conditions as to destination and port of embarkation, Herr Bebel, whose views were shared by the Radical speakers, described the Bill as framed in the interests of the Agrarians to check the emigration of agricultural labourers. The measure, in his opinion, was also inspired by the aim of making emigration subserve the purposes of that "world policy" which had recently been proclaimed from a very high quarter. Emigration would be directed to countries like Brazil and the Argentine Republic. The German settlers in these countries might become numerous enough to den and political privileges; they would appeal to Germany to protect their interests; and some German Jameson would arise whose action would be judged quite differently from that of his British prototype. The clauses were carried by majorities consisting of the Conservative Right and of the Clericals."

The last number of our esteemed contemporary "the St. Andrew's Scotch Presbyterian Church Magazine" contains a most interesting biography of the our lamented friend the late Mr. Robert McClymont, which the older members of the British community will like to peruse. We make the following short extract:—"As early as 1838, sixty years ago, he was Treasurer of the Church, and it is safe to say, that for fifty years there was scarcely a year in which he was not either on the Church or School Committee; indeed, there was one period in which, for twenty-one years in succession, he acted as Secretary and Treasurer of the Church. He had been for fifty years an Elder of this Church, and the Church is happy that has such a man as its senior Elder. Liberal in his gifts, regular in his attendance at Public Worship, sympathetic with every extension of the Church, ready to serve in any way he could, a true gentleman in his life and manners, and a devoted Christian in his home and conversation, it would be impossible to have found a higher type of man, and this was recognized in the respect which he received on every side by all with whom he came in contact."

The Smoking Concert season will make a splendid start next Saturday night, in the La France Saloon, for the benefit of the oldest Cricket Club in South America, the B. A. C. C., and some blazing fun may be anticipated, as well as a packed audience, as it is known that the dear old Club is not particularly flush of cash just at present, and there will be a general desire to help it in such very pleasant fashion. It is quite enough to mention the names of the following brilliant amateurs who will take part, to insure the success of the smoker: Messrs. Parnell, Morley, Crowe, Robinson, Bocquet, Morgan, Still (so gently o'er me stealing) Bentham, Short Crawford, Muir and others. Mr. John O. Zimmermann will preside. Tickets can be had at our friend Mr. John Grant's well-known book-store, No. 469 Calle Cangallo.

Our gay and festive Italian fellow citizens were completely done-up yesterday after their celebration of their Statute anniversary on Sunday. There were so many fiestas from the top to the bottom of the Italian community that we cannot remember one quarter of them. All we can say is that at the top—the ball at the Circolo Italiano—was one of the grandest ever given by any Club in this most clubbish city. The magnificence of the tapestries that adorned the walls, all fresh from the looms of Italy, are a fortune, and fairly astonished the numerous guests, who included nearly all the leading Italian families in the city, and many of other nationalities. It was a superb affair all round.

Cheer up boys! There's a good time coming. Three church holidays this month—17th, Corpus Christi; 24th St. John the Baptist, and 29th SS. Peter and Paul. Then there is the glorious Diamond Jubilee, the 22d, which the STANDARD hereby decrees to be a holiday for the English section of the Editorial Bus, in common accord with all our contemporaries in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, where no editor will write a line, no printer set a type, on that day.

Where and at what do enterprising advertisers mean to stop? "The Cape Town Council has received from a large firm of soap manufacturers in England a letter proposing to make use of the Table Mountain for advertising purposes. The offer will not be considered."

Special Notice.

THE WIDOW MOLLOY FUND.

Received from the STANDARD office the amount of one hundred and sixty seven dollars and 55/100, the balance of Mrs. Molloy's fund.

We read in the British "Medical Journal"—"Hunyadi Janos has established itself in favour with leading physicians and therapeutists of every country, whose testimonies bear witness to its action as a speedy, sure and gentle aperient for ordinary use; it is remarkably and exceptionally uniform in its composition."

To-night in the Lecture Hall of the American Church, will be the Symposium on "Washington Irving," Hon. W. J. Buchanan will give the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," Dr. McLaughlin readings from "Knickerbocker," and Mr. H. Van B. Valentine the biographical sketch.

Some of the best amateur performers of the city will assist in the musical part of the program. The admission is free by ticket, which may be obtained any time during the day at the Church.

Gold Premium

First Ring..... 195.00

Second Ring..... 195.90

The market has resumed again its ordinary dull aspect, with no feature of note premonitory of any change impending. From this it is safe to calculate that the month will be an exceptionally dull one in every respect which is satisfactory, inasmuch as everything is shaping well—at least as well as could possibly be expected under the circumstances. All apprehensions of emissions and gold shipments are being lulled to rest, the former by the lack of all initiative in this respect in Congress and the latter by the buoyancy of exchange. It is extremely difficult to gauge how long this buoyancy may last; with wool and cereals at an end practically, the outlook in exchange would not seem to bespeak a plethora of bills; but on the other hand, requirements are very meagre, whilst there also seems to be foreign capital always flowing in for mortgage, railways etc., affording a sufficiency; at all events brokers in touch with the market and keen judges of the channels report the exchange market firm and likely to keep so. Thus, with the bugbears of emission and gold shipments laid, the perspective is fairly bright. It will be a steady pull through the winter, and after that it will, of course, be a question of how the harvest promises. All going well, we may then expect to see the country working up as it has never done before, consolidating its credit by paying in full, expanding its resources and commerce, and spreading out every sail, even to the sky-scrappers, to catch the favoring trade winds that wait along to prosperity. The Presidential question will also be settled by that time, and the future has, therefore, no terrors lurking in its womb. The danger is the locust plague, and this year at least we can depend on little else than the weather to save our crops from its voracity. We can, on the whole, however, look forward very hopefully.

Business in gold at the first hour fell considerably short of the round million. Prices stiffened very appreciably, opening at 294 and closing at 295, and it was noted that for the end of the month the rate was in general 30 cents under that for cash, which shows a change in the current. For other dates interest is quite indifferent, and there is scarcely more than 50 cents pass for July. Stocks were not particularly active either. Some National G Cédulas were done firm at 83 1/2 and Constructor Obligations at 75 cents, but Catalinas were a shade weaker, relaxing to 7.90 and closing at 8. A batch of Santa Fé Cédulas was realized at 89.

Messrs Thomas C. Nelson and Co., have purchased for export a splendid batch of 200 mestizo steers from Mr. Gregory Villafañe's estancia in Chacabuco, San Gregorio, at $95 each. They are a fine, level lot, certain to average a good price at Deptford. If Rothschild and Baring, Morton, Rose, and Storn only paid an occasional visit to Deptford market to see the improvement in our export stock, and then worked up statistics as to what this country can do in out-putting in this line, they would not be so jealously susceptible about all rumours of fresh loans, which seem to give them a mild edition of "el baile de San Vito".

Messrs J. J. Eraisquin and Co., report more than 3,000 head of cattle received from the 16 to 31st of May than during the previous fortnight, while the total numbers slaughtered during the same period amounted to 23270 head. They at the same time report the sale of good mestizo cattle as pretty brisk; but no rise in the price of these animals is expected during the next fortnight.

As to-day is a bank-holiday in London, there are no commercial cables.

Circulars have been handed round calling upon shareholders of the Banco Constructor to "arise in their might" and force the liquidating board to call an extraordinary general meeting for the purpose of discussing the state of the establishment and the measures advisable towards furthering and expediting the liquidation. GENERAL.

Italian ss Duchessa di Genova will sail to-morrow for Genoa. The special train with her passengers will leave Casa Amarilla station for La Plata at 1.20 p.m. Mr. P. Christophersen, agent of the Veloce line leaves in her.

German ss Wittekind will sail from Madero Port on 9th inst. for Bremen, without calling at Brazilian ports. All her first class cabins are engaged, and a large number of 3rd class berths.

Brit. ss Westburn, from Montevideo for this port, and which was aground at Point Lido, got afloat to-day, and arrived in the Roads after the Port doctor had returned to shore. She will be visited by him to-morrow.

The sailers Barbadian and Kirkhill, which were aground all last week off Martín García, got afloat to-day, and proceeded on their voyage.

The Imperial Prince aground off Martín García, was still lightening her cargo to-day, to try to get afloat.

The Veloce "flyer" Nord America arrived at Genoa yesterday from the Plate, all well.

The first steamer of the Hamburg and Buenos Aires line for the Plate, the Buenos Aires, has passed Vigo, all well.

The following vessels were given clean bills of health to-day—Brit. ss Juanita for Rio and Queensland for Antwerp, also the Chilean schooner Ripping Wave for Punta Arenas.

German ss Harzburg will shift to-morrow from Dock 2 to Barraecas, to finish discharging.

The Regina Margherita will leave La Plata on Wednesday for the graving dock in the North Madero Port, for repairs.

The following steamers are expected in this port to-morrow: French ss Campinas from Havre; Brit. Bellais from Liverpool, Phenician from Liverpool, and Helopes and Zephyrus from Campana.

A collision between the Pacific Mail boat "Orellana" and the Norwegian barque "Midnattol" occurred at 3 o'clock this morning 16 miles from Montevideo. The former was coming from Valparaiso and the latter from Bilusi (Mississippi) with a cargo of lumber for Buenos Aires. It appears that the collision was due to the heavy fog which prevailed at that hour. Natural to say, the mail boat was not in the least damaged while the sailor was only kept from sinking by the cargo she had on board. The tugs Plata, Emperor, Solis and Feluna are at present rendering the Midnattol every assistance.

La Plata Port.

KEATING'S LOZENGES.

KEATING'S LOZENGES. KEATING'S LOZENGES.

"A Simple Fact about KEATING'S COUGH LOZENGES. Ask through the world, in any country that can be named, you will find them largely sold. There is absolutely no remedy that is so speedy in giving relief, so certain to cure and yet the most delicate can take them.

"A TERRIBLE COUGH." "A TERRIBLE COUGH."

"94 Commercial Road, Peckham, July 12 "Dear Sir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of 'Tracheotomy' (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough. It was so bad at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty. I am, sir, yours truly, J. HILL

UTTERLY UNRIVALLED. UTTERLY UNRIVALLED.

The above speaks for itself. From strict inquiry it appears that the benefit from using Keating's Cough Lozenges is under stated. The operation was a specially severe one, and was performed by the specialist, Dr. H. I. Butlin, of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Since the operation the only means of relief is the use of these Lozenges. So successful are they that one affords immediate benefit although from the nature of the case the throat irritation is intense.

WEIGHT IN GOLD. WEIGHT IN GOLD.

Under date Sept. 8th, 1891, Mr. Hill again writes—"I should long since have been dead but for your Lozenges—they are worth their weight in gold. I will gladly be and tell anyone what a splendid cough remedy they are."

Keating's Cough Lozenges, the unrivalled remedy for Coughs, Hoarseness, and Throat Troubles, are sold in Tins and Bottles by all Chemists. 1439 4 xp

Dr. J. Collis Browne's CHLORODYNE

Original and only Genuine.

Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, and that the whole story of the effect that the one remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, December 31st, 1884.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the one remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, December 31st, 1884.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

"I was prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not supply a want and fill a place.,"—Medical Times, Jan 2nd, 1886.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

is the best and most certain remedy in Coughs, Cold, Asthma, Consumption, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, etc.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

is a certain cure for Diarrhoea, Cholera, Dysentery, Colic, etc.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne

CAUTION—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33 Great Russell St., London.

"I have, indeed, great pleasure in adding my testimony to your excellent preparation of Cough Lozenges, and I have prescribed it now for the last eight years in my hospital's and private practice, and found it of great benefit. I often suffer from Chronic Bronchitis; your Lozenge is the only remedy which gives me immediate ease. Therefore I feel 'certainly' and most strongly recommend your Lozenges to the public who may suffer from Catarrh, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, or any kind of Pulmonary Irritation. Yours truly,
